

Australia has a proud speedway history....six World Speedway Champions have won nine championships dating back to 1936 when Lionel Van Praag won the inaugural championship at Wembley to 2017 when Jason Doyle triumphed in Melbourne.

The Australian Speedway Riders Association was founded in 1991 to preserve Australian speedway history and proactively support speedway past and present for future generations.

ASRA members benefit from a dedicated website [Google asra.info], a quarterly Newsletter - see website link [asra.info/ASRA_Q2_NEWSLETTER.pdf] and Facebook page which collectively keep members up to date with historic, current and future events including domestic, UK, European, Polish and SGP news, results and meeting reports, solo and sidecar photo gallery, welfare updates and much more.

The association also supports display days like the Maitland Centenary, featuring restored bikes, memorabilia and an opportunity to meet the stars of today and yesteryear.

We need new members to take the Association into the future for the younger generation to enjoy and be part of our great Australian history.

In the words of ASRA Youth Ambassador Darcy Ward 'We need to encourage junior and senior speedway riders , supporters and bike enthusiasts to become members, boost awareness and help progress the sport of speedway'
